Operations have ceased for a time upon the Wilsonville dam project, with the exception of the lumbering end, which is under contract to be removed within a specified time. The incorporators of the Paupack Power company are interested in a plan to generate electricity from refuse of mines at Mauch Chunk and have sent their corps of helpers from Wilsonville to that place. It is claimed that those interested in the enterprise at Wilsonville are not certain what will be done with that proposition.

Wayne county is well represented in the Scranton Trust company of that city. Among the shareholders and directors appear the names of Hon. A. T. Searle, Honesdale; Charles H. Dorfingler, White Mills and F. C. White, Hawley. The two latter gentlemen were elected on Saturday at the annual meeting to fill vacancies. The annual report made to the stockholders showed satisfactory business and progress of the company with a steady increase in business, assets and profits. The company is paying a dividend of eight per cent. The directors will meet January 26 to elect officers and no changes are likely to be made.

The mysterious burning of seven barns in the vicinity of Adella, in Wayne county, within the past two years, is unusual and is causing the people of that community uneasiness. The general explanation of the fires up to recently is that there are fire bugs in the neighborhood. Recently, however, the theory has been advanced that they are due to natural gas. On the flat lands of that vicinity are deposits of coal. Amzi L. Woodward, who lived in that vicinity a few years ago, asserts that he has seen the burning out of natural gas there frequently. Many persons state that they have seen the blaze at night. The people of that section, however, are divided in their opinion as to the origin of the mysterious fires.

The members of Protection Engine Co. No. 3 fire department and B. H. Dittich are to be commended upon the action taken regarding means for providing a fund for the widow and family of George J. Bergmann. Manager Dittich has offered to give the entire proceeds of the entertainment of next Wednesday evening for the benefit of the fatherless children and bereft wife. In addition to a high class motion picture show, Protection Engine Company has provided local talent, the young people of the town having volunteered to do all in their power to make the benefit a success. The regular admission fee will be dispensed with. We urge the people of Honesdale and vicinity to attend this entertainment and to be as liberal as possible, as all money received will go to the unfortunate family. Remember the date, Wednesday, January 31. The entertainment will commence at 8 o'clock.

Palmer Robacker, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Robacker, of Dreher, and Miss Angie Biesecker, only daughter of Horace Biesecker, of Paradise, Monroe county, were married on Wednesday of last week. The marriage was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Seig, grandparents of the bride and groom. Rev. Edmund Schwarz, pastor of the Moravian church officiated.

A narrow gauge railroad is being built from "Burnt Mill," a short distance above Clemo on the Scranton branch of the Wyoming division of the Erie railroad, to No. 18 plane of the old Pennsylvania railroad. The road will be about four miles long and will be used to convey coal screenings and siftings from plane 18 to Burnt Mill. At the latter place shafts will be erected and the coal refuse will be loaded from the small dumps into larger cars on the Erie railroad. It is claimed that Scranton men are interested in the project.

Editor B. F. Haines and James C. Birdsall left Thursday noon to attend the funeral of Mrs. George W. Twitmyer, in Wilmington, Del., which will be held Friday afternoon. The deceased was the beloved wife of Prof. G. W. Twitmyer, who for many years was principal of the Honesdale public schools. No particulars have been received regarding Mrs. Twitmyer's sudden death. Besides her husband, three sons, E. B. Twitmyer, of University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, and Joseph and George, of Buffalo, N. Y., survive. Fuller particulars in our next issue.

Investigation as to the cause of the wreck of the Illinois Central's two crack trains near Kinmundy, Ill., recently, in which James T. Harahan, former president of the Illinois Central; Frank Otis Melcher, General Manager of the Rock Island; Edward B. Pierce, General Solicitor of the Rock Island, and Eldridge E. Wright, of Memphis, President of the Rock Island Bridge company, were killed, and many others maimed and wounded, will be the most thorough and searching of any ever undertaken by a railroad. Intimation that labor troubles or other hostile influences might have been connected with the disaster, and death of four railroad chiefs, became known on Monday for the first time. A piece of rail under the rear coach of the train, the one to which Mr. Harriman's private coach was attached, and other secret evidence which the railroad officials refuse to reveal.

By the placing of hot flatirons in her bed, the housekeeper for William C. Elliott, Cherry Ridge, nearly burned down the latter's home one day recently. The housekeeper got a red hot stove and after the irons became the same heat wrapped them in a blanket and placed the flat irons in her bed. She afterwards went down stairs. The first knowledge the family had of the fire was the sound of falling plaster on the second floor. Hastening upstairs they discovered that the bed and quilts had been consumed and that the flames were eating their way through the ceiling. Brisk work on the part of Mr. Elliott's grandson saved the building from destruction. Loss was covered by insurance carried in the Wayne County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company.
